Loke Rahbek | "City Of Women" | Editions Mego | 2017

Este es el primer larga duración en solitario del danés Loke Rahbek aka Damien Dubrovnik, Croatian Amor y Posh Isolation.

En “City Of Women” Rahbek explora el ruido, incrustaciones industriales y pasajes melódicos en un álbum de nueve temas que se enmarcan en la electrónica con atisbos experimentales.

Interesantes son los temas “Fermented” que muestra un sampleo a armónicas de piano obtenidas de alguna bella pieza que me suena conocida pero que no logro identificar, o “City Of Women” con una atmósfera enrarecida a través de sonidos sintéticos e insinuando algunas líneas melódicas. “A Mess of Love” despliega un bello tapiz ambient con arreglo de cuerdas que por momentos me recuerda al trabajo de Fennesz.

“Take Pleasure in Habits” es una suerte versión al primer corte “Like a Still Pool” en especial por su líneas de teclado que se desarrollan como un espiral.

This is the first full-length solo of Danish Loke Rahbek aka Damien Dubrovnik, Croatian Love and Posh Isolation.

On "City Of Women" Rahbek explores noise, industrial inlays and melodic passages in a nine-track album that is framed in the electronica genre alongwith experimental glimpses.

Amazing songs like "Fermented" shows a harmonic piano samples obtained from some beautiful piece that sounds familiar to me but that I can not identify, or "City Of Women" with a rarified atmosphere through synthetic sounds and insinuating some melodic lines. "A Mess of Love" unfolds a gorgeous ambient string arrangement tapestry that at times reminds me of Fennesz's work.

"Take Pleasure in Habits" is a kind of version of the first cut "Like a Still Pool" especially by its keyboard lines that develop like a spiral.
